

ICF ACCREDITED
GESTALT COACHING PROGRAM

■ ICF Accredited Gestalt Coaching Program

The Gestalt Coaching Program, an ICF Accredited Coach Training Program, is a Gestalt-based approach to coaching that incorporates cutting-edge coaching theories from thought leaders worldwide. This program is founded on core Gestalt values, which hold that it is the awareness of self and others, in the context of aware possibilities, that support choice for intervention and success. A core Gestalt coaching belief is that it is the nature of the coach's support and presence which assists the client to do the desired work in service of goals that are achievable, believable, concrete, and deliverable.

The program is designed to teach the theory and practice of coaching leadership and management using a Gestalt theoretical and conceptual orientation. Coaching theory, concept, method, and technique from the fields of Gestalt theory, concepts, and practices will shape the program curriculum. Participants will develop a system of ongoing assessment, practice coaching, and receive feedback and guidance in the coaching behaviors needed for individual, executive, and organizational coaching engagements. This program will be targeted to support effective coaching interventions with individuals, groups, and complex systems. Participants will also learn to design their coaching practice to stimulate learning, development, creativity together with intentional and transformational change.

The program is designed to satisfy all requirements for ICF Credentialing application for the participants within the program, which is different than many other ACTP programs, which usually ask participants to attend additional certification workshops or programs. Graduates of GCP will only need to take a short applied exam with GCP faculty after the program ends to receive a certificate of completion, which will enable them to apply for ICF Credentialing through ACTP track.

■ About The Program Leaders

Dorothy E. Siminovitch, Ph.D., MCC is an international leadership, team, and organizational coach, mentor coach, speaker, and author. She is considered the pioneer of the Gestalt Coaching Program, is the Director of Training for ICF-ACCTP Gestalt Coaching Program and is a co-owner of the Gestalt Center for Coaching. Her training and development workshops focuses on assisting peak performance, mobilization toward innovation, enhancing one's signature presence and masterful use of self, teaching competencies for group leadership, and supporting practices that develop personal mastery. Dorothy promotes optimism as the essential, professional mindset for success. She uses Gestalt theory and awareness process tools to support personal and professional development at the individual, group, and organizational levels. Additional best practices from neuroscience and mindfulness are used to help executive clients find greater creativity and resilience, and to embody a grounded presence and more choiceful use of self. Dorothy has served on professional coaching boards, which called for her stewardship by inviting her knowledge of excellence in teaching and ethical practice. Dorothy is the author of A Gestalt Coaching Primer: The Path Toward Awareness IQ (available on Amazon). She is co-author of the Awareness 20/20™ leadership awareness instrument. She has evolved gestalt theory with the articulation of "Awareness Intelligence"™ and offers her trainings around the world.
